The plains of the Serengeti pulse through the gentlemen's retreat, glowing golden light through one-of-a-kind stained glass doors and reflecting in the single piece, textured edge marble bar.

A cozy sitting room replete with hearth over-stuffed chairs adjoins his and hers closets that redefine "walk-in." The bathrooms suit personal preferences in décor and style.

The reclaimed oak flooring adds character both in design and its seasoned surface. Organic leaf patterns adorn deck railings and outdoor light fixtures. Decks of African mahogany, crafted with hidden joinings provide retreats that chase the sun or hide from it.

A green house blooms year round in controlled temperatures, and even the garage detailing unites practicality and visual appeal. White wainscoting can be power-washed right along with the epoxy-gravel floor. Multi-level landscaping incorporates walls, plantings, and sculptured geese lifting off from a bubbling fountain by the front door. Around back an in-ground swimming pool enhances an outdoor entertainment area with comfortable seating and built-in grills.

Comfortable refinement envelopes the Donnan's residence, a house with its own personality of warmth and grace. It is at once their business center and their haven. A home that is uniquely their own.
